

Angela M. Brommel
Nevada State College
Candidate for Vice President

Candidate Statement

Higher Education has radically changed since the AAUP was founded and issued the “1915 Declaration of Principles on Academic Freedom and Academic Tenure.” In light of national conversations about the dismantling of both higher education and tenure, faculty advocates are asking their members to tell them how higher education should be preserved with a balance of academic freedom and academic responsibility.

Serving as NSC-NFA President and State Secretary, I have encouraged dialogue advocating for both Academic and Administrative faculty at the local, state, and national levels. I have a strong interest in financial literacy as activism and updating the vision of higher education advocacy to be more inclusive of the members of the profession and more relevant to our members. At the AAUP’s Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., this June, I will co-present a presentation titled, “Strategic Planning as a Lever of Shared Governance in Higher Education- Adaptation of the Balanced Scorecard Methodology,” along with members of the NSC Faculty Senate and NSC-NFA,

As a passionate advocate for the well-being of the faculty at all eight NSHE institutions, I am honored to accept the nomination for Vice President of the Nevada Faculty Alliance.

Selected Leadership Roles, Committees and Awards

- Serving, NFA State Secretary
- Serving, NSC-NFA President
- Serving, Vice Chair NSC Faculty Senate
- Serving, NSC Executive Budget Committee
- Serving, Faculty Senate Fiscal Affairs Committee
- Serving, NSHE Code Task Force: Chapter 5 & 6
- 2011 AAUP Collective Bargaining Congress Delegate
- 2010 AAUP Collective Bargaining Congress Delegate
- 2008 AAUP Hopper Travel Award

Selected AAUP Seminars and Workshops

- Crash Course in Understanding University Finances
- Negotiating in a Time of Negative Public Opinion
- State Conference seminar on state level management
- Government Relations: From Capitol Hill to Campus
- Union 101
- Grievance and Contract Administration

Candidate Biography

Angela Brommel is an Administrative and Part-Time Faculty member at Nevada State College. She received a B.A. in Study of Religion and an M.A. in Theatre from the University of Northern Iowa, and an MFA in Creative Writing from Antioch University Los Angeles. In 2010 she completed the Graduate Certificate in Women’s Studies at UNLV. She has taught at NSC since 2003, and has been Director of Bookstore Operations since 2004. Before moving to Henderson, she was a Teaching Assistant at the University of Northern Iowa and then a part-time faculty member at Hawkeye Community College. She has taught a broad range of courses across the Humanities and Social Sciences, including Composition, Communication Studies, Theatre, Visual Media, and Women’s Studies.

